Reading Poetry Aloud Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" Saturday, March 6, 2010, 10:15 a.m. and April 10, 10:15 a.m. (Note second Saturday)

For pleasure and education, we are reading aloud every word in the complete collection of Geoffrey Chaucer's The Canterbury Tales. We meet on the first Saturday of the month (exception: this April). Some of Chaucer's stories are chivalric romances, some are raunchy folk tales, but all are engaging examples of the Medieval mind of Merrie England. If you wish to come sit with us over tea and cakes, know that the book we use is a paperback Penguin Classic, translated into Modern English by Nevill Coghill. RSVP Dr. Vinni Marie D'Ambrosio 212-673-5875, or vinnimarie@aol.com

Evening Literature Group
(Third Thursday), March 18, 6:15 p.m.,
April 15 & May 20

Join us as Diane Daniels will review the Autobiography of Eleanor Roosevelt. On March 18. We enjoy reading elections aloud to each other, a lost art. We encourage but do not require reading the work. Please bring something to nibble and share! The book for April 15, 2010 is True Compass by Ted Kennedy. The book for May 20, 2010 is Parallel Lives by Phyllis Rose. The review for June 17 is the chapters on Igor Stravinsky & Coda in Proust Was a NeuroScientist by Jonah Lehrer. In our last review, it was noted that President Obama believes that "The single most important factor in determining a student's achievement ...[is] who the child's teacher is."
